Introducing Union Professionnelle des Experts Maritimes

In 1975 a group of Marine Surveyors got together and founded the Union Professionnelle des Experts Maritimes.

UPEM is a non-profit making organisation ruled by the French law of 1901, which brings together on a nation-wide scale, Marine Professionals whose academic qualifications, technical skill and experience allow them to practice in the surveying fields of:

- ship building & ship repair
- commercial shipping
- maritime and river transport of goods and passengers
- fishing
- yachting & pleasure craft
- river craft & navigation
- divers & underwater work
- offshore (oil, gas & new energies)
- harbour & other industrial works ...

UPEM is a member of the following French organisations:

- Institut français de la mer / IFM
- Cluster maritime français / CMF
- Fédération des industries nautiques / FIN
- Conseil supérieur de la météorologie / CSM.

UPEM also launched the Diplôme Universitaire d'Expert Maritime (DUEM) together with the Université and the École Nationale Supérieure Maritime (ENSM) at Le Havre.

The Surveyors of Union Professionnelle des Experts Maritimes

In accordance with their respective skills, UPEM Members may act:

- as conventional Surveyors in marine casualties or expert witnesses in damages;
- as Technical Consultants acting in litigation;
- as Surveyors of guaranteed work: checking production and material specification control, verification of contractual documents, risk evaluation, feasibility studies, program planning;
- as conventional Technical Consultants: laying down processes, defining and planning actions, risk evaluation, feasibility studies, program organisation.
- as Court Surveyors when agreed.

Concerned about the quality of his profession, aware of his responsibility towards those seeking his services, each Member of UPEM is committed to:

- exercise his profession with all integrity,
- avoid conflicts of interests,
- decline the tasks for which he is not competent,
- maintain the reputation of his profession and his Association,
- follow the codes of good conduct, respect the environment to the best of his ability,
- maintain honesty at all times.
